HOR Ex Doc 110. Removed from bound vol. (without wrps). This report draws on surveys by W. R. Hutton & W. G. Turpin & incl., to a great extent, a reworking by E. K. Lorraine of his Central Water-Line from the Ohio River to VA Capes connecting the Kanawha Canal & James Rivers, Richmond 1869. The basic flaw was the Alleghany backbone in Alleghany Co., VA & Greenbrier Co., WV which required a nine-mile tunnel. The positive side was that all the rest was nearly complete. This was almost the last gasp of the James River & Kanawha Co., because marshalling their full resources, the railroads...
